FSU Man Named As President

President-elect Dr. Charles Sheppard Davis

Gov. Ernest F. Hollings announced Monday the appointment of Dr. Charles S. Davis as president of Winthrop to succeed Pres. Henry R. Sims.

Dr. Davis is dean of the faculty of Florida State University, Tallahassee. He will assume his duties at Winthrop before the beginning of the next academic year.

Concerning the appointment, the Governor said, "South Carolina extends a warm welcome to Dr. Charles S. Davis as president of Winthrop College. The State is indeed fortunate in obtaining a man of Dr. Davis' stature as an educator and administrator for our very fine institution at Winthrop. He has our sincere good wishes." Gov. Hollings is ex-officio chairman of the Winthrop Board of Trustees.

Mr. John G. Dinkins of Manning, chairman of the Winthrop Board of Trustees committee for the selection of a president said that after an extensive investigation and careful consideration of a number of possibilities, the committee came to the conclusion that Dr. Davis had the necessary qualifications and personality to give Winthrop a great and progressive leadership in the challenges years now ahead.

President Sims said, "The Board of Trustees has made an excellent selection, which I am happy to fully endorse. Everybody at Winthrop will welcome Dr. Davis and cooperate with him."

In a statement released to the press today, the newly appointed president stated, "Over the years Winthrop College has had a fine tradition and an excellent reputation in its program of education and service to the State of South Carolina. I look forward with real anticipation to the challenging opportunity of becoming president of the College and of working with the students, faculty, and the people of the State."

Dr. Davis, a veteran educator, received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Alabama Polytechnic Institute. His Ph.D. degree in history was conferred by Duke University.

The new Winthrop president has served on the faculty of Alabama Polytechnic Institute as instructor, assistant professor, and associate professor.

At Florida State University, he has been associate professor, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, associate dean and professor of history, and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Davis was appointed to his present position last year by FSU President Robert Strozier.

A veteran of World War II, he was a member of the 531st Engineer Regiment. He served as director of the import division for lend lease in Tunisia, as American secretary of the Allied Food Resources Board in Naples, and as historical officer of the U. S. Seventh Army. A bronze star winner, Dr. Davis now holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

The Mobile, Ala., native is a member of the executive committee and the commission on college and universities of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the American Association of Academic Deans, the Southeastern Association of Academic Deans, the National Education Association, the Southern Historical Association, and the Alabama and Florida Historical Associations.

Dr. Davis is the author of numerous articles and reviews which have appeared in leading regional scholarly publications.

His honor societies include Phi Kappa Phi, of which he is currently president, Omicron Delta Kappa (leadership), Phi Alpha Theta (history), Scabbard and Blade (military), Blue Key (leadership), and the North American branch of the Nevechem Society of England.

An Episcopalian, Dr. Davis is married to the former Mary Greenfield Merritt of Montgomery, Ala. They have three daughters, Mary Beingsworth, a sophomore at Randolph-Macon Women's College, Catherine, a high school senior, and Charlotte, a seventh grader.

Members of the Winthrop Board of Trustees who served on the committee for the selection of a new president along with Mr. Dinkins were Mr. John H. Martin of Hartsville and Mrs. N. Gist Gee of Greenwood.

Dunlap Gives Piano Recital

Miss Mary Elizabeth Dunlap of the Music Department presented a Faculty Recital Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall.

She will play "Rondo a Capriccio, Op. 129," by Beethoven, "Nocturne in C minor, Op. 48, No. 1," by Chopin, "Ballade, Op. 44," by Grieg, "Sacro-Monte, Op. 45," by Ravel, "Prelude No. 1," by Debussy, and "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 15," by Liszt.

Juniors Open Follies Tomorrow Night At 8

Dunne Batson and June Roberts look over the script for Junior Follies as they direct the cast in rehearsing the completely student-produced show. Dunne and June wrote the 1959 Follies.

Tomorrow will climax six months of preparation for the annual student production of the junior class, Junior Follies.

Dunne Batson, a library science major from Lyman, and June Roberts, biology major from Newberry, are co-chairmen of Follies.

Follies will begin at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Admission will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for students and children.

This year the juniors are using the cover-up theme of Zigfield Follies. By tradition, the theme and title of Follies are kept secret until curtain time.

There will be a parade tomorrow to kick off Follies. It will begin on campus at 2:30 p.m. Each class will have a float in the parade.

Follies is a musical production. Most of the songs are original, composed by members of the junior class.

Working with Dunne and June are committee co-chairmen Mary Ann Palmer and Marjory Shaw; music, Patty Hughes, choreography, Anne Dietert and Happy Booter, stage manager, and assistant stage manager, respectively; Sarah Page, publicity; Jane Henshild, house manager; Penny Anderson, crew chief; Jane Nash, scenery; and Christina Searnsheim and Nancy Whitaker, props.

In publicizing Follies, several members of the junior class have appeared on T.V. programs on stations WFBC in Greenville, WSPA-TV in Spartanburg, and WBTV in Charlotte.

Soph Music Major Plays In Contest
Evelyn Elizabeth Hancock, a sophomore music major, took part in the organ playing contest sponsored by the Charlotte, North Carolina Chapter of American Guild of Organists.

Evelyn won the contest. She will participate in the South Eastern regional Organ Contest which will be held in Columbia, S. C. April 13. The contestants in the Regional Contest will be from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama.

Roman Quiz Kids To Convene On Campus

Winthrop will be host March 6-7 to the annual South Carolina High School Latin Forum.

South Carolina's Latin Forum is the largest classical gathering of its kind in the nation. Over 1,500 students attended the session last year.

The initial meeting of the Forum will be a business session at 7:30 p.m. March 6. Presiding will be Spratt White of Rock Hill, president. Following the meeting there will be an informal reception.

A panel of Roman quiz kids will get the program underway at 10:30 a.m. March 7. Members of the panel will be Jimmy Rogers of Fort Mill, Sybil Windsor of Clinton, Elizabeth Matthew of North Charleston, Graham Purkerson of Greenwood, Frances Croft of Chester, and Herbert Roehrborn of Laurens. Brenda Rhynes of Union will be master of ceremonies. Directing the panel will be Miss Edna Hope of the Union High School faculty.

For the second year side sessions have been scheduled, and the winning school will receive a plaque. Schools presenting quiz kids will be Albemarle, Greenbrier, and North Augusta.

Students of Ware Shoals High School will present a Latin play "Syllaba" written by Dr. Donella Martin, founder of the Latin Forum.

N.C. Author Talks Tues.

Guest speaker Tuesday will be Mr. John W. Shirley, Mr. Shirley, who recently made a trip to Russia, will tell of his visit there.

Dr. Shirley received an A.B. degree from the State University of Iowa in 1923 and his Ph.D. degree in 1927. Dr. Shirley, who has taught at the State University of Iowa, was also instructor of English at Michigan State College from 1927 until 1943. He was assistant professor until 1949.

From 1949 until 1947, Dr. Shirley was a visiting lecturer in the history of science at the California Institute of Technology. At N. C. State College, Dr. Shirley was Professor of English. He has been Dean of the School of General Studies since 1952.

Dr. Shirley is a member of the American Association of Science, American Conference of Academic Deans, American Council on Education, American Society of Engineering Education, Modern Language Association, and the Association of Land-Grant colleges.

Author of "Survey of Drama," and "Twenty-five Centuries of The Stage And Its Productions," Dr. Shirley has also contributed to professional journals.

Dr. Shirley is married to the former Geraldine Lewis. They now have two daughters.

Phi U Gives First Scholarship Award

Barbara Ann Caloe, a sophomore Home Economics Major of Westville, was awarded a $100 scholarship by the College chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, professional home economics fraternity, in observance of the chapter's 25th anniversary.

The scholarship, given for the first time this year, will be presented annually to a sophomore outstanding in scholarship and service to the college.

Barbara is copy editor of the Johnsimon, and a member of the Winthrop Club. Barbara was also the recipient of an Alumnae scholarship this year.

Armstrong, Partridge, Ragsdale Discuss Qualifications For Leaders; Answer Questions About Student Responsibility On Winthrop Campus

In accordance with the campaign for campus-wide elections, this newspaper has asked three outstanding senior leaders to answer pertinent questions raised in regard to student leadership positions at Winthrop.

These students, having been confronted with the responsibility of making decisions for our student body, have no doubt looked at Winthrop with a broader perspective than have the average students which they serve.

Believing in the principle that students should be at least partly responsible for their own government, students here at Winthrop have made continuous progress in this direction since 1911-12.

Contributing their opinions to the student body are Sandra Armstrong, Chairman of Judicial Board; Molly Partridge, President of Seniors; and Anne Marie Ragsdale, President of the senior class. The following questions are discussed:

1. What do you consider as the desirable qualities of a good campus leader?

Sandra: (a) sincere interest and devotion to the college, the student body, and the organization in which she is a leader, (b) ability to deal successfully with people, (c) ability to think clearly and objectively in reaching decisions.

Molly: Almost any person listing the desirable qualities would include leadership, responsibility, initiative, alertness, average academic ability (or higher), ability to work with others, etc. but there is one quality that I place far above all of these - call it "human relation." She can never become tired of human beings, for they are her most important responsibility. I think "love for human beings" is the greatest quality to be desired of a good campus leader.

Anne: A good campus leader puts service to school above self. She is willing to discuss campus policies with any student who seeks her explanations. She is able to recognize constructive criticism and re-evaluates her program accordingly. She makes a conscious effort to develop leadership in others. She is able to see the campus program in its entirety and her particular program as a vital part of the whole.

2. How far should students go in deciding major campus policies? Sandra: The deciding of major policies helps to mature students and further their ability to assume responsibility. Students should be allowed this privilege in as great a degree as they prove themselves to be capable of handling it competently.

Molly: I believe that certain policies on campus come under the heading of students and others come under the heading of administration, and should be handled in a wise manner by each group. Both groups should understand the actions and decisions of the other and co-operate as much as possible to make students, faculty, and administration understand thoroughly all major campus policies.

Anne: Students should decide major campus policies in so far as they prove themselves worthy of responsibility.

3. Do you think our student government is strong, or is it weakening?

Sandra: Winthrop is very fortunate in that it has a strong student government with more powers than usual delegated to the student body. I do not think it is weakening, but will continue to grow as long as it maintains the interest and support of the students.

Molly: I think that our student government is strong, but as in all governing groups there is room for improvement. We realize our weak points and that certain things we have done could be greatly improved - that is why we

A Welcomed Decision

Rumors hushed, and Winthrop students and faculty breathed a momentary sigh of relief this week when the Board of Trustees announced its appointment of Dr. Charles S. Davis, dean of faculties of Florida State University, to succeed retiring President Henry R. Sims.

Nothing more than a biographical sketch and recommendations made by the Board of Trustees has reached us concerning the background of Dr. Davis. However, we feel sure that this body made its decision carefully and with due consideration.

We commend the Board of Trustees for its deliberate and speedy steps made in choosing a successor for head of this institution. We are fortunate that Winthrop will not have to suffer through an interim period between Presidents as is the present fate of the other state colleges, Clemson and Carolina.

Dr. Davis will not have small shoes to fill. President Sims' record here at Winthrop for the past fifteen years has been one of constant striving to better organize and administer the resources of this college. His courage and fearlessness in attacking some of the acute problems that have faced Winthrop during his presidency will not be easily forgotten.

It is at the same time that we extend our best wishes to the President-elect and pay tribute to the man who has already given himself so unselfishly for us and for Winthrop.

The Voters Task: To Distinguish The Thinkers From The Skeletons

Elections have a way of presenting us with two types of candidates: the "thinkers" and the "skeletons." This is what the voter has to worry about. Just who are the "thinkers" and who are the "skeletons?"

Of course, in our case, all of our candidates have a grade point ratio of 2.25, and somebody must have thought they were capable, else their name wouldn't appear on the ballot sheet. But it might be a safe idea to find out what concrete plans they have for next year, whether it be getting a phone for the Town Girls' room or rejuvenating the Taps program.

We are not discussing what has been done in the past, but rather our main task now is the determination of what is going to happen next year.

The "thinker" will do more than perform the routine duties of going to executive board or presiding at Senate once a month. She will stand for something more than Christianity, Brotherhood, and the Flag—all good ideas, but still the bare essentials.

We want some extra "push" and creativity put into the student leadership positions on this campus. Democracy is made through trial and error, and the absence of trial only opens the door for dictatorship. So this sounds ideological, huh? Well, our student government may be headed for such domination unless we elect leaders who think for themselves. A stalemate can easily develop unless leaders accept their jobs as important—important to the well-being of 1984 students!

Many students on this campus would like to see Winthrop develop more of a reputation for intellectual curiosity and a scientific, experimental attitude, instead of a responding like parrots as is often the case. This is not an advocacy of change for change's sake, but rather, a plan for a renaissance-type spirit of questioning and reasoning for the best possible answers.

We need leaders who not only are "thinkers," but who will be dedicated to the office to which they are elected. This means that with the know-how of their field they could add the enthusiasm which is so contagious to their fellow students.

The "thinkers" are not hard to spot. And don't use the excuse of "not knowing the candidates" for marking a name at random on the ballot sheet. If she's a "thinker" you probably already know her or have at least seen evidence of her creative ability.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

As The World Turns Upside Down, Somebody's Bound To Fall Off

By JOYCE OUEYS

Wake up, Kiddies! It's later than you think. This is the first of a series of tirades on the theme, "As The World Turns Upside Down, Somebody's Bound To Fall Off!"

This week we're running a contest, "we" being yours truly. That respectable person who is able to guess the identity of these other persons described below will be awarded the handsome sum of coming up with an idea for next week's column. Answers should be submitted in writing (numbered, please!) in a pigeon hole marked "G" in Pledge Hall (the'second).

To narrow the field a bit, all persons described serve as guides and guardians in this academic labyrinth; in other words, they're members of the faculty or administration. Names have not only been changed, but also omitted in order to protect the innocent. The innocents in this case are the students in the creative writing class. Just in case they don't recognize the products of their genius... well, the things have been edited. You know how free the press is! Oh, one more thing, these are descriptions of the ways some of the distinguished beings walk.

1. A bounding peacock.
2. A "squirrel" with a little-boy grin.
3. Thoughtfully, he approaches the restroom with a cautious, deliberate step.
4. She walks as if she's afraid she'll wake the fairies.
5. Preceded by her thoughts she plows the wild as she storms the building.
6. With an "other world" air, she wanders down the hall, her head cocked slightly to one side, as if listening for something.
7. He walks with the dignity and confidence of one girded with integrity and the inevitable vestments of the Groves of Academia.

RAKSHA MEHTA

Cyprus: Success or Failure?

The birth of the Republic of Cyprus brought relief to heightening national and international tensions last week.

Subsequent to compromise between Greek and Turkish Premiers in Switzerland and recognition by its governing powers Britain, Cyprus attained independence by treaty. Thus, the age old enmity between Greek and Turkish Cypriotes found reconciliation, and the four-year conflict between their collaboration over possession of these rights ended. The Greek Cypriotes, who constitute four-fifths of the total population, will find representation in the new government's President and seventy percent of the seats in its single legislature. The Vice-President and remaining thirty percent of the legislature will be representative of the island's Turkish population.

This new regime will have a curious and critical audience. Its success or failure will depend almost solely upon a complex interaction between these factors: the eventual history of Cyprus and the prevailing treatment by international political blocs.

The people of Cyprus are basically an agricultural folk. Small land ownership, crops of wheat, olives, and vines are prominent features of this livelihood. Wealth of the nation lies in its mineral resources. The latter have been explored and developed by private companies, and constitute a large portion of the country's export. Economic and small industrial advances began after the Second World War, when Britain realized the increasing importance that Cyprus held for her. Soil erosion and malaria were deadly enemies of the island. Britain set out to combat these and, today, malaria is almost extinct and soil erosion checked by numerous forest programs. Acute housing shortage and lack of electric power continue to challenge the promoters of progress in Cyprus.

Cypriote culture dates back as early as 1500 B.C. when the Greeks first came to the island. The Turks entered when their country gained sovereignty of Cyprus. Since then, the cultures of these nations, in addition to the more recent British influence, have merged; Greek literature and art, Byzantine music, and British technological knowledge are distinctive features.

Considerable advances have been made in Cyprus in the last two decades. These can, to a large extent, be attributed to the keen political interest played by Britain, Greece and Turkey. Indeed, it has been said that the latter two have sacrificed the development of their own countries.

It can be surmised that political interests will continue to be vested in Cyprus for its strategic importance to NATO and for personal significance to Greece and Turkey. Aid will be coming to the new government, and it is hoped that it will not be totally aimed for individual benefits. The potentialities of the young Republic are to be recognized for their advantages.

Such aid coupled with an effort by the Greek and Turkish factions in Cyprus to erase former animosities can ensure a fruitful future.

termination of an Amazon warrior, she strides forward library or campus.

10. With the bearing of an aristocrat, the dignity of a judge, he paces majestically, seeming not to hear the signs that follow in his wake.

There, that's a good number. For those of you who fail to come up with correct answers, better shuck those shoes and dig in with your toes. We're going into a sharp turn.

We Resent Being "Talked Down To"

The expected round of applause after any performance, including that of assembly speakers, ordinarily signifies delight or enjoyment, but ours lately has stemmed from a feeling of thanksgiving. "Thank goodness that's over," go the murmurs, while the murmurers get into position for the alma mater, picking up the pages of an unfinished letter, closing a yet-to-be-studied textbook, or smothering a yawn from the short nap just finished. Even faculty members in the back are brought from their world of other thoughts by the realization: he has sat down; now we clap. And the applause is loud, sounding like "we had such fun with you," and the speaker smiles and takes another bow. But in reality we are glad another assembly is over.

What is wrong here? Assembly has come to mean nothing more than a boring hour that one has to attend, or otherwise be restricted. We listen with embarrassment to a "pep talk" designed to increase our "good ole Southern patriotism"; the charming voice saying that it is so wonderful that East and West can meet, that it is necessary for them to meet, without ever actually telling the crucial, so-important how; the gentleman telling the students "down there" that they must study; the drooling of some original but ridiculous poetry. We go, expecting to be "talked down to," or to hear the interesting, interesting stories of personal experiences, whether they be had "up yonder where all those yankies live," or while newspaper reporting in the African jungle — all nice, but hardly college level.

Assembly could be constructive, but it usually consists of a few jokes, with all the male speakers raving over the beauties in the audience. Only two speakers from last semester stand out in our minds as excellent, but just because these particular ones were good doesn't mean that they have to be invited back year after year. There must be some others who are interesting somewhere! Even South Carolina has good local talent which we don't mind hearing, but let it be understood that we wish to gain something from our assemblies. We are not a complacent group of young people; we do not want to be ignored. We want to know what is going on in our world and how we are related to it. What are the new developments (with a little bit of historical background, please!) in world affairs, literature, science, education, sociology, music, etc. We don't mind personal experiences or jokes, either, just so they are not overdone. But we do want interesting programs. Our own faculty, administration could be used; we would listen gladly.

But please, please do something—quick!

TJ Releases WCA Slate, Platform

Candidates for Winthrop Christian Association offices discuss below the stands they will take as potential officers on campus issues. The candidates are listed alphabetically by office.

WCA PRESIDENT
BETTY JEAN FRITZCHARD
The underlying goal of the W.C.A. is to provide a source of action to meet the spiritual needs of each student and to help each girl find herself in relation to God. It seems that to provide more opportunity for self-expression on the part of individuals would be an effective way to approach this. I have in mind more student discussions throughout the year, as well as on special occasions. Understanding would stem from student discussion on such subjects as music, art and literature, and from discussion programs on other topics of student interest and concern such as evolution related to religion.

The W.C.A. is organized in a very well arranged set up. In order to continue so and to be more effective, the Taps groups must improve in their representative function of student body to cabinet. There is a need for a stronger, better orientation of Taps leaders to the organization and its purposes.

JANICE TIMMONS
The Winthrop Christian Association is interested in the spiritual life of each student. It works to maintain a broadening influence on the individual by offering programs of study and worship. I shall strive to be aware of what the student body wants in their Christian association and to try to fulfill these needs.

I would like to see each girl have more opportunity for self-expression and participation in the organization. Sponsoring of such activities as study groups on subjects of interest would give a better opportunity for self-expression.

A more thorough training program for Taps leaders would aid in strengthening the organization. As well as being able to recognize the needs of the students and to adjust their program accordingly, the Taps leaders should be trained to conduct discussion groups, during Taps Social, as a significant contribution to their responsibility.

The W.C.A. can be truly meaningful to every person on campus. This is a very real possibility to which I would work as your president. The organization is you, and I intend to expand and direct all its activities toward the most valuable service of the student body.

NANCY WATSON
I, Nancy Watson, believe the purpose of this Winthrop Christian Association is to give each student at Winthrop College an opportunity to have her life on campus enriched through activities which will develop a sincere Christian faith and fellowship.

If I am elected to the office of president of the W.C.A., my desire will be to see each and every student at Winthrop College feel that she is a vital member of the Winthrop Christian Association, and by so feeling, serve to her best capacity in preparing Taps programs and participating in them and all other Winthrop Christian Association activities.

I will uphold the standards of the W.C.A. to the best of my ability and give my whole self to the functions of this organization.

WCA VICE-PRESIDENT
BETTY JO GOODMAN
The purpose of WCA is to foster and develop among Winthrop students a sincere Christian creed and faith as a guide and support in life. College years are the time in life when we make our decisions about basic beliefs. We need to take time out to think about and discuss these things. Student-led group discussions would be a way to learn about the beliefs of others, and if thought-provoking enough, they would make us search for answers to our own questions.

If elected Vice-President of WCA, I will try to make this organization meaningful on our campus. I will give my best service to God and to each Winthrop student.

ELSIE MCKENZIE
If elected Vice-President of the Winthrop Christian Association, I promise to uphold the standards and to perform the duties of this high office to the best of my ability. The planning of Religious Emphasis Week is one of the chief duties of the vice-president and realizing its importance, I promise to work with all those concerned to make it as worthwhile and as meaningful to the students as it has been in the past.

MAROLYN SHAW
The Vice-Presidency of the Winthrop Christian Association is a position of great importance. It is the vice-president's responsibility to preside in the absence of the president and to undertake big and petty events throughout the year.

The biggest job of all is Religious Emphasis Week, in this coming year, 1969. I want our campus to have the most successful week ever: one of interest, enthusiasm, and inspiration.

A phase of the Winthrop Christian Association is found everywhere on campus. There are Taps groups and prayer rooms in each dormitory, noon devotions, special programs and many more phases. I would like to place more emphasis upon all of these and yet to knit these phases of the WCA into a unified whole, an organization to truly serve you. With the co-operation of the entire student body, I am sure this can be accomplished.

If elected WCA Vice-President, I will try to present a year of concern and importance and one which will be beneficial to all.

WCA Secretary
FLORENCE DIXIE
If I am elected to serve the Winthrop Christian Association as secretary, I shall endeavor to make this organization more meaningful and beneficial to every person at Winthrop College. I realize that this could be done through Taps Leaders who are interested in the ideas and needs of the students.

The WCA is one of the most important phases of campus life. The tremendous influence it has in the moulding of the spiritual lives of individuals should make it one of the main concerns of the entire student body. If I am elected to this office, I will be an-

McDonald Reveals Big Three Office Nominations For 1959

Janice McDonald, vice-president of the Student Government Association, has announced the candidates for the executive offices of the three campus-wide organizations, Senate, and Judicial Board. Elections will be held Monday, March 2.

Candidates for president of S.G.A. are Emily Pettus, Sally Schumpert, and Rosa Thornton.

Running for the Winthrop Christian Association president are Betty Jean Fritzchard, Janice Timmons, and Nancy Watson. On the presidential ballot of the Winthrop Recreation Association are Anne Dickert, Pease Fewell, and "Mickey" Taylor.

Presidential candidates for Senate are Mary Ann Fulmer, Jody Mayer, and Elaine Proctor. Nominates for chairman of Judicial Board are Margaret Ann Bollick, Libby Brezale, and Betty King.

S.G.A. vice-presidential nominees are Ann Blackman, Ann O'Clain, and Mary Wade Thompson. Betty Jo Goodman, Elsie McKenzie, and Marolyn Shaw will run for the vice-presidency for W.C.A. Candidates for W.R.A. vice-president are Betty Ann Harrison, Lenora Jordan, and Carol Shurtliff.

Candidates for secretary of S.G.A. are Jenny Addison, Hannah Hickman, and Geneva Knox. Running for secretary of W.C.A. are Florence Duke, Wynn Horton, and Lurline Lockstar. Sally McElvaine, "Mickey" Dean, and Nancy Sharrow are nominees for secretary of W.R.A.

S.G.A. candidates for treasurer are Dolly Crouch, Dora Hayes, and Rose Jones. Sarah L. Page, Sarah Pitts, and Jackie Spinks have been nominated for treasurer of W.C.A. W.R.A. treasurer's ballot includes Nancy Cobb, Penny Hunt, and Lenora Jordan.

Rosa Thornton, candidate for S.G.A. president, is a commerce major from Columbia. She has served at Winthrop as house president of McLaughlin, as a senator, as a house councilor, a marshal, and she has worked on the JOHNSONIAN. She also is a member of the College Choir.

Sally Schumpert, also a candidate for president of S.G.A., is an English major from Cheraw. For the past three years she has served as president of the freshman class, treasurer, and secretary of S.G.A., as senator, a marshal, and has worked on the JOHNSONIAN.

Emily Pettus, candidate for S.G.A. president, is a music major from Hones Path. Emily, in the past three years has served at the college as house president of Brezale, house councilor, president of the Deafian music club, as a senator, and as a marshal.

Elaine Proctor, candidate for Senate president, is a religious education major from Olanes. She has been a house councilor, a senator, and a member of the Choir.

Jody Mayer, also candidate for the position of president of Senate, is an English major from Georgetown. Jody has served at Winthrop as secretary of W.C.A., as a class senator, as a house councilor, as a marshal, as associate editor of the JOHNSONIAN, and as secretary of the South Carolina Student Christian Association.

Mary Ann Fulmer, also a candidate for the office of Senate president, is a business major from Columbia. (Continued on page 6)

Student Government Executive Candidates Discuss Office Aims

The JOHNSONIAN, in the belief that the voter should be given the fullest opportunity to choose her officers wisely, is again this year publishing each candidate's platform.

The candidates running in the Monday elections for positions in the Student Government Association give their stands below.

President of S.G.A.

EMILY PETTUS

Winthrop has a student government of which we all can be proud. Upon a number of occasions in representing Winthrop at state meetings, I have observed that representatives from other colleges are eager to learn the procedures of our student government and how our government is successfully student-led. This should make all of us proud.

However, to continue to be successful, I believe the student government should be even more dedicated to the student's interest, never serving as the vehicle of personal ambitions. Each officer must be well aware of her responsibility in expressing the desires and complaints of the students and the administration.

I believe that a good relationship must exist between the student leaders and the administration; yet I don't feel that we students are to be the tools of the administration. Student government must function through the students and by the students.

Recognizing honor as a vital part of any phase of life, I believe that continued stress must be placed on our honor code.

I believe through the combined efforts of the student executive council, the W.C.A., the W.R.A., and through the cooperation, participation, and appreciation of all, the S.G.A. can offer the Winthrop student a well-rounded campus life.

If given the opportunity to serve as president of the S.G.A., my foremost concern will be to perform the duties designated by my office as efficiently as is possible in belief that by so doing, it will enable my co-officers to work more effectively.

SALLY SCHUMPERT

One of the responsibilities of the Student Government Association is to enforce the necessary campus rules. I believe that these rules need a thorough going re-evaluation: some should be revised, and a great many should be re-worded to insure a uniform campus policy in the various dormitories. Also I believe that the penalty sheets used by the house councils need to be studied for possible revision and clarification.

Many students think of student government only in this light — as a regulatory body; however, SGA has a much more vital purpose — it should make a positive contribution to the growth of every student. One way for SGA to do this would be to sponsor periodic faculty-student discussions, in which we, as students, might think creatively with faculty members about the problems that confront us in today's world. A second thing that SGA can do to contribute to our growth as students is to promote awareness. Since past year is a national election year, I would like very much to see SGA sponsor a well-organized mock election.

In summary, I believe that SGA, through a rule-enforcement organization, should put most of its energies in a positive program of student growth and development. If I am elected president of the student body, I will endeavor to direct the activities of SGA toward this goal of student growth and development.

ROSA THORNTON

Student Government was established at Winthrop in the belief that "self-government promotes the development of character and further, responsible citizenship." "To maintain conditions conducive to scholarly achievement, and to foster student ideals comparable to those of the founders of this institution."

I sincerely believe in the values of the stated purposes and goals of this organization. Since, in the final analysis, the responsibility for effective functioning of student government rests upon each individual student, each student must be aware of her responsibility and must contribute her ideas, enthusiasm, and suggestions.

Therefore, if I am elected to be president of your Student Government Association, I will endeavor to keep every member of the association well informed concerning policies of the Executive Council, so that she may be more capable of expressing her opinions and of offering suggestions. I will listen to and consider seriously any suggestions of any student at any time.

Believing that a high standard of honor and integrity among individuals is necessary for successful group living, I will work toward the establishment of an Honor System, if it becomes apparent that the majority of the students desire such a system. Good relations among the students, the faculty, and administration should be maintained, and I will help plan programs and activities that will promote achievement of this goal.

I promise to fulfill the duties of this office as stated in the Handbook cheerfully, willingly, and well. I will endeavor to be fair and consistent in the manner in which I interpret SGA rules, and I will work toward an increased understanding of these rules.

Finally, I will keep before me the idea of working for the good of the school as a whole. I will give of my time, ability, and enthusiasm to promote activities and policies that will keep Winthrop College well known and respected in the eyes of the general public.

President of Senate

MARY ANN FULMER

Senate, the legislative branch of the Winthrop Student Government Association, is the most powerful organization on our campus because it is the voice of each student.

Senate fulfills a twofold purpose in: voicing student ideas, and making such regulations as come under the authority of student government.

As President of Senate, I would have the job of presenting student opinion to the administration and administrative opinions to the students, utilizing the organization of the Winthrop Christian Association, Winthrop Recreation Association, and Student Government Association.

My wish would be that more students observed Senate sessions to actually see bills initiated and acted upon — to witness changes

"And away we go!" said a large number of Winnies last week end, and away they went. Where did they go?

At Spartanburg Eyon Rhodes visited Diane Giles, and Miriam Kittles visited Mrs. J. L. Rhyme. Mary Clyborn also visited in Spartanburg. In Greenville for the week end were Louise Brown visiting Sandra Armstrong; Wilma Rhodes visiting Carolyn Gooddy; Mary Theresa Bottner visiting Betty Andersen in Columbia, and Luba Sharon was the guest of Fran Evans in Marion. Lib Shelley, from Fort Mill had as her guests for the week end Sally Foster, and Vivian Smith. Shirley Henderson visited Cecile Foxworth from Dillon, and Vivian Booth visited in Charleston, N. C. Also out for the week end was Mattie Prosser, who visited Mrs. Clifford Keith in Memphis, Tennessee. Visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stevenson, Mary Long spent the week end in North Augusta. Lila Sturgis visited Anne Blackwell in Inman, and Patty McClary visited Mrs. Ed Sallenger.

Attending dances and social functions at colleges throughout the past few week ends. Winnies have returned to live on fond memories until the next time! Jean Mims and Suzanne Switzer attended the Midwinter's Dance at Davidson College in North Carolina. Wynne Horton, Patty Whitlock, Rita Kittles, Ann Seberry, and Carol Labarsche were guests at Presbyterian College in Clinton. Faye Lall and Lil Lightsey attended the Military Ball at Wakefield, and Anna Carver was a guest at Georgia Tech. Patty Rosch visited Emory, and Mary Weston and Clara Nelson visited at Converse College and Anderson Junior College, respectively.

At the North Carolina State College this past week end were Lynn Dubois, Rose Jones, Mary Ellen Montgomery, Joan Livingston, Susan Jackson, Jean Hubbell, Tyna Faulkenberry, and Nancy Cobb. The purpose of their visit was to give a dance demonstration.

Dr. and Mrs. B. J. McCoy attended "Oedipus Rex," a play presented at Davidson last Friday night. They were accompanied on their trip by Jody Mayer, Patty Hughes, Carolyn Senger, Christina Beaznheim, Anne Marie Ragdale, and Cynthia Jackson.

Next week end Betty Jo Goodman is to compete with four other girls for the title of "Miss Citadel" at the Citadel Armory in Charleston. Good Luck!

Breazeale Dormitory Team B Captures Title In WRA Residence Hall Bowling

Winning the residence hall bowling tournament for this year was Breazeale B. Breazeale B was the south campus champion with a score of 457, while North B led north campus with a score of 988.

Last Thursday the two teams bowled to determine the all-campus champions. Breazeale B won with a score of 373 to win the campus bowling championship.

I shall strive to increase the Christian atmosphere on campus and work with the students to improve this association in every possible way.

WYNN HORTON

If given the opportunity to serve as secretary of WCA, I will perform to the best of my ability the responsibilities of this office. I will endeavor to bring about more student participation and thus make WCA a more vital part of college life. This can be accomplished through discussion group on various subjects throughout the year. Our faith and beliefs are strengthened and stimulated by questioning.

LURLINE LOCKLAIR

I would like to have the opportunity of working with the Winthrop Christian Association for it is this association that we so often depend on for guidance during our college years. I would try to our WCA to be even more far reaching, one that is not only hitting the highlights but also the inner needs of our daily life. One of the ways this can be done is through developing a more extensive program of dorm discussions. If I am given the privilege of working in this capacity, I will use it as an opportunity to serve others.

WCA TREASURER

SARA L. PACE

If I am elected, I will strive to support and carry out the purpose of the Winthrop Christian Association which is to create a more meaningful Christian attitude on our campus. To the best of my ability, I will fill the position of treasurer and execute its duties with you and your ideas foremost in my thoughts. Thank you for your vote.

SARA PITTS

If elected to the position of treasurer of the Winthrop Christian Association, I will do my best to carry out the duties for which I am responsible and to further the organization to which I am elected. I will strive to fulfill the spiritual needs of Winthrop students through promoting Christianity and Christian fellowship.

JACKIE SPINKS

I would like very much to be treasurer of the WCA, because, of the three big campus organizations, WCA interests me most. If elected, therefore, I should make a special effort to do the job well. As far as platform goes, I naturally shall promise to do my best to be an honorable treasurer—keeping the budget balanced, the records accurate, etc. and by being willing to work, work, work. Most of all, I shall consider it a high honor if elected, and if not, I still consider it a rare privilege for being a candidate.

that are necessary and good for the campus development and progress of Winthrop College.

JODY MAYER

If I am elected President of Senate, I promise to represent my student body's needs and opinions to the faculty and administration as best I possibly can.

Besides other issues brought up by students, I want to work with Senate on these emphases: first of all, a complete study and revision of the rules, with all members of Senate, from freshmen to seniors, participating in some way; then, the cutting of the time between a bill's passing by the Senate and its becoming law upon the signature of the President of the College.

I would also like to work with Senate on some of the campus problems that are beyond law, such as student freedom and responsibility, the meaning of education, the promotion of an effective guidance program, and any other matters that students feel are of great concern.

ELAINE PROCTOR

As a candidate for the office of President of Senate, I realize and am aware of the great responsibility it involves, and therefore submit my platform as follows:

I believe that student government should be exercised by and for the students, and this is precisely what Senate does and should continue to do. The main function of Senate is to voice student opinion, and that is why I would encourage each and every student to attend Senate meetings so that they too might hear and see the procedure used by their representatives in expressing their opinions.

Above all else, I suppose that the greatest aspect I can emphasize is that of correct parliamentary procedure. By the use of parliamentary procedure, we can carry out our responsibilities in a more organized and effective manner. I would wish to give my full support to any bill or activity that seems beneficial for the students as a whole. Anything that would continue to raise the standards of Winthrop College involves legislative matters—I would support.

By being in Senate last year, I realize that we, as students, have the right to govern and discipline ourselves, and through Senate this is accomplished.

If I am elected to this position, I will try to the best of my ability to fulfill the responsibilities and duties of this office; the other hand, if I am not elected, I will still endeavor to uphold and advance the purpose of Senate, one of our greatest student organizations.

JUDICIAL BOARD CHAIRMAN

MARGARET ANN BOLICK

It is my desire to promote a better relationship between the students of Winthrop College and the Judicial Board. I feel that the first step towards obtaining this goal is to impress upon the student that Judicial Board's main function is to instill in the student a sense of responsibility to Winthrop, its students, and herself. Another important function is to clarify any misconception the student may have regarding the rules violated.

If I am selected for this position, which I respect very highly, I shall endeavor to do my best at all times with the aim of upholding and interpreting correctly the rules of Winthrop College and at the same time giving as much consideration to the individual student as circumstances permit.

LIBBY BREAZEALE

It is very difficult for me as a candidate for a Judicial office to make a definite statement of policy—except one of justice to the best of my ability. I realize the grave significance of the responsibilities of Chairman of Judicial Board as a whole.

I do believe that some steps can be taken to further improve the efficiency of Judicial Board. Among these are:

1. Clarity of rules in the handbook that are often broken by students.

2. A greater understanding between the Student Government Association and the administration.

3. An increased understanding between Judicial Board and the student body through an increased knowledge of penalties imposed for certain violations, etc.

Any organization must have rules to exist, and they are especially important to Winthrop. If rules are not respected, penalties must be imposed. Rules are for the good of the college and the penalties imposed for breaking them are in turn for the good of the college. A college is its students, therefore, the rules are for us.

BETTY KING

As chairman of Judicial Board I would seek to promote student understanding of Judicial Board, for I feel that through knowing the processes of Judicial Board, students would have a greater understanding of why we arrive at the decisions we reach. I would do my utmost in assisting the Board in arriving at a just decision after thoroughly considering all of the circumstances and facts.

Clarification of some of the rules—the care rule, and the time of termination of holidays and weekends, for example, would be one of my aims. Although Judicial Board does not have a penalty sheet, as such, we do have some precedents which we use as a guide when we begin discussing a penalty. If elected I would instigate a thorough evaluation of our Guides, for I feel some revisions are needed.

I assure you that I will perform my duties to the best of my abilities in the best interests of all concerned.

WC Journal Opens 1959 Prose Contest

Silver Co. Gives Cash

During the months of February and March, Reed and Barton, America's oldest major silver-smiths, are conducting a Silver Opinion Competition in which scholarship awards totaling $1050 are being offered to duly enrolled college students at a few selected colleges and universities.

Winthrop College has been selected to enter this competition in which the first grand award is a $500 cash scholarship; the second grand award is a $250 scholarship, and third, fourth and fifth awards are $100 scholarships. In addition there will be 100 other awards with winners having the option of receiving a $25 Savings Bond or a "starter set" of sterling silver, china, and crystal with a retail value of approximately $45. For the past two years, Winthrop has had recipients of the "starter sets."

In the Silver Opinion Competition an entrant is asked to name her favorite china pattern, her favorite crystal and the sterling silver design she likes best. Then in her own words, she must tell why she has chosen the three particular designs. She can use as few or as many words as she likes. Entries will be judged on the basis of interesting opinions rather than on literary technique. Closing date is midnight, March 31.

Mary Anne Latham and Donna Wilson are the student representatives who are conducting the Silver Opinion Competition for Reed and Barton at Winthrop.

Those interested in entering the Silver Opinion Competition should contact their house councilor: Mary Anne, at 153 Phelps Hall; or Donna, at 225 Roddy Hall for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the competition. The representatives also have samples of nine of the most common Reed and Barton designs that will be on display so the entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Through the opinions on silver design expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed and Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American tastes.

The Journal, Winthrop's literary magazine, has opened its annual prose contest to all Winthrop students, both regular and special. The contest closes March 15.

Short stories, essays, and sketches are invited for entry. The entries will not be classified.

All entries must be typewritten and double spaced. The name, room number, dormitory, and class of the entrant must be placed on the upper right-hand corner of the first page and the title of the entry on the upper right-hand corner of each page thereafter. The pages should be stapled at the upper left-hand corner.

A first prize of ten dollars in cash will be awarded to the winner, and a prize of five dollars in cash will be awarded to the first runner-up.

Judging the contest will be Miss Louise D. Dula, Mr. George M. Traynor, Jr., of the English Department, and Dr. and Mrs. William H. Williams of Rock Hill. Dr. Williams is a local physician.

The winning entries will be published in the May issue of the Journal.

Profs Judge S. C. Auditions

Dr. Jess Casey and Mr. Jack Tait have been invited to judge the annual state auditions of the National Federation of Music Clubs which will be held at Furman University tomorrow.

Anyone between the ages of 16 and 25 is eligible to enter the auditions.

The purpose of the auditions is to encourage and foster good performance of serious music students.

Winners of the state contest will be eligible to enter the district contest, and the district winners will enter the national contest.

A cash award and the opportunity of playing with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra will be given to the winner of the national contest.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THESE QUESTIONS CAN TELL YOU A LOT ABOUT YOURSELF!)

- When you feel that certain facts are foolish do you talk against them? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Do gadgets such as new cigarette lighters often intrigue you so you want to take them apart? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Do you think that political candidates should write their own speeches instead of using a "ghost writer"? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Given the choice, would you prefer having an apartment of your own to living at home with your parents? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Do you prefer a salesman who is anxious to make a quick sale to one who will patiently answer all your questions about the product? YES ☐ NO ☐
- When arriving late for a party, are you inclined to join a group of close friends rather than attempting to strike up new acquaintances? YES ☐ NO ☐
- If you met somebody with a beard, would you tend to consider him "off-beat" and treat him with reserve? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Are you normally reluctant to go on a "blind date"? YES ☐ NO ☐
- Do you base your choice of a cigarette on what people tell you rather than doing your own thinking? YES ☐ NO ☐

You'll notice that men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? They've made a thinking choice. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. They know that VICEROY gives it to them! A thinking man's filter, and a smoking man's taste!

*If you have answered "YES" to three out of the first four questions and "NO" to four out of the last five... you really think for yourself!

Long Heads Snow White

The Winthrop Theatre's semi-musical production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" opens Thursday, Feb. 23, at Johnson Hall. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, with a 2:30 Matinee, Saturday. Mr. William L. Long is director of the cast of 27 children. Mr. J. Robert Swain is designer for the four fairyland settings, and the costumes are original designs by Mrs. Mary (William L.) Long. Mr. Long is assisted by a large crew of students from his Children's Theatre course, Winthrop Theatre members, and parents of cast members.

"Snow White" is by far the largest children's show to date. Past years have given Winthrop audiences a touch of the Orient in "The Emperor's New Clothes," a breath of Switzerland with "Heddi," and another well-loved classic in "Cinderella." Students of drama are urging Mr. Long to produce one of his own original children's scripts next year. "If the number of young actors keeps growing in the future as it has during the past three years, the Dramatic Art Department is going to need a play with 'cast of thousands' to give a chance to all," said Mr. Long.

Net Tournery Runs Till May

The Barron Nichols Singles Tennis Tournament begins Monday and will last through May 17.

It's not too late to participate if you'll sign up with your WRA Hall Chairman.

The winner of the tournament will be awarded a silver disc, and her residence hall will receive the rotating winners' plaque.

This tournament was begun as a commemoration for Barron Nichols, a former geography teacher at the college and a favorite of the students.

Girls Visit Esso Co. In Charlotte

Members of Beta Alpha, Honorary Business and Economics Fraternity, visited the main office of the Esso Standard Oil Company in Charlotte, February 10.

Miss Marjorie Kelchauer of the Business and Economics Department accompanied them.

Those members going on the field trip were Eleanor Riser, Martha Zimmerman, Doris Dixon, Patty Rauch, Carol Atkinson, Mary Lee Robinson, and Joan Livingston.

Students to Spend Sat. Night at Shack

North campus will have an overnight at the Shack next Saturday night.

A college truck will carry the girls out to the Shack at 2 p.m. for an afternoon of fun and games. The girls will be able to come in to the campus movie Saturday night if they wish. A college truck will return for them Sunday morning.

Bobby Freeman, chairman of the hiking and cutting committee for WRA, is in charge of the plans for the weekend.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASSES NOW AVAILABLE

"Photographs taken by members of the photography classes in the past few years are now available to these students, their relatives now on the Winthrop campus, or to friends who can contact these people," announced Mr. William L. McDermott, head of the Art Department, recently.

Anyone who has posed as a model for the students may have the pictures with the student photographer's permission. Mr. McDermott said.

WC THEATRE HOLDS

Tryouts will be held for Winthrop's Theatre next production, "Caribbean Holiday," Monday and Tuesday, March 2nd and 3rd at 4:15 and 7:00 p.m. in Johnson Hall. This is the musical comedy, written by Mr. Chris Reynolds, drama professor.

WC Sponsors Guidance Meet

The annual Guidance Conference, sponsored by the Winthrop College and Guidance Services of the South Carolina Department of Education, was held here Tuesday. Registration began at 8:30 p.m. in Thurmond Hall. Miss Ellen Lyles, State Supervisor of Guidance Services presided at the morning session. Dr. Paul MacMinn from the Department of Education, Health, Education and Welfare addressed the group; his topic being "Guidance Looks Forward." Miss Lyles reported the current progress and trends of South Carolina. Dr. M. L. Story introduced the principal speaker for Assembly, Dr. Arthur A. Hitchcock, National Executive Director. Dr. Hitchcock's topic was "Guidance as a National Policy."

In the afternoon group discussions were held in Johnson Hall. Leaders for these talks were Hugh Lovett, Director of Arkansas Guidance Service; Harold P. Cottingham, Professor of Education at Florida State University; and Margaret Scott, Assistant Supervisor of Guidance, Virginia Board of Education.

Hostesses for the Conference were members of Kappa Delta Pi.

WTS Student Seeks Office

Alton Brown, Jr., of Rock Hill is being sponsored by Winthrop Training School as a candidate for president of the South Carolina Chapter of the National Honor Society.

The state convention of the organization is to be held at River High School, Charleston, March 1-4.

A member of the junior class of which he is president, Alton is a member of the Sea Explorers and winner of the God and Country Award. He is active in dramatic productions and has been a member of the Winthrop Training School Band and football team.

Alton has represented WTS in the state mental contests in which he has placed.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Alton Brown of Rock Hill, he is also active in the senior youth fellowship of the local Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Patty McClary Wins WRA Hunt

Patty McClary of Georgetown solved the question and ended the WRA Hatched Hunt by finding the hatchet under the Winthrop College sign facing Oakland Avenue. In assembly Tuesday morning Patty was awarded a tennis racket for being the girl best able to follow the clues and find the hatchet.

Candidates Vie For Offices Of WRA As Election Nears

As election day draws nearer, the campaign for WRA offices reaches its climax. The candidates have been introduced to the student body in assembly, and now to give students an idea of their aims and ideals, the WRA nominees have submitted the following platform:

WRA Presidential Candidates

ANNE DICKERT

I believe that Winthrop's Recreation Association is a vital and necessary part of campus life. It is the medium through which we students can enjoy activities which alone we could not have, such as informal dances, team sport tournaments and play days. In order for any organization to offer such a program, there must be a group of individuals who, working together, can assemble and coordinate such activities. These people must be thoroughly familiar with the structure of the organization, eager and enthusiastic about its events and activities, and capable of formulating and executing its diversified program.

Most of our present program is excellent. However, there is always a need to add, change, or delete various parts as the student body changes or as its members change their tastes and needs for particular activities.

Believing that these things are true, I propose, if elected president of WRA, by being the most enthusiastic member of the group myself, to establish and maintain a group of eager and enthusiastic people who will work to have a WRA that is wanted and enjoyed by every student. I shall study student requests for activities and offer such a program as will give the maximum to each student and which will be stimulating to the group.

I do not intend to do this through "pressuring" people into participating. There must be personal and direct contact with the individual but this need not be a badgering type of communication. A program that is varied, interesting, challenging and sound will receive support from the entire student body by its own merit. We must have this type of program; it is for this purpose that WRA exists.

PEACE FEWELL

I am deeply appreciative and honored in having been nominated for president of the Winthrop Recreation Association. If you choose to elect me, I will do my best to fulfill your confidence in me by giving my best to the WRA.

The WRA president is employed, through election, by 1234 Winthrop students. It is her duty as president to fulfill your ideas, and act to use the office to simply further her own wishes or the wishes of the administration.

The WRA serves a vital purpose on the Winthrop campus. This purpose should be to touch some part of the life of every student.

The 1955-56 WRA has done its job well, however, I think that more spirit is needed in the activities of the organization. This could be brought about, I believe, by encouraging every student to live up to the theme adopted by the Student Executive Council this year — "Cooperate, Participate, Appreciate."

Why do we need an organization to further the recreation of students? We need it and have it because recreation is imperative in giving a well-rounded education to the student. It is imperative in the development of every human resource.

If I am elected, I will do everything in my power to give the Winthrop student what she deserves from her WRA.

MICKEY TAYLOR

The purpose of the WRA, among other things, is to provide for the students a means of diversion and relaxation, but as we all know, what will appeal to one person will not appear to another. It is because of this that the WRA has tried to develop a varied program. I believe in this program and in its purpose, and I sincerely believe that the WRA has something to offer every girl on Winthrop's campus.

The WRA is still very young. This is only its third year. But it has done much, in so short a time. I have compared our program with those of other campuses, and I know what a truly wonderful job has and is being done, but I also know that nothing can continue to be good if it stands still. The program as it now stands is good, but it is not complete, nor is it perfect. Changes and additions will have to be made as the interests of the girls change and as opportunities present themselves. For instance, as the shack and surrounding land is developed, there will be many new things that can be offered.

As I have said, I believe every girl has a place in the program, but I do not believe in pushing her into something she doesn't want to do. Instead, I believe that it is the place of the WRA to find out what she does want, and if possible, to offer her that. To do this there must be a close link between the council, the floor representatives, and the students. It is my goal, if elected, by developing this closeness, to help every girl at Winthrop find her place in the program.

WRA Vice-Presidential Candidates

"B. A." HARRISON

I would like to see a wider and larger variety of campus-wide activities. By having such things as the recent Hatched Hunt, student enthusiasm can be aroused.

The informal dances sponsored by the WRA should be publicized more in order to get bigger and better turn-outs. There should be more attractive music and themes, and more functions at the college shack and more use of its available facilities. I would like to have the informal dances planned so that they do not interfere with those of surrounding colleges.

Freshman orientation is one of the most important programs in the Fall, and I believe it can be made more meaningful for the freshmen so they will feel more a part of Winthrop and Winthrop Recreation Association from the beginning.

A leader is only as good as those she leads. I would like to have special events which encompass the interests of more students. With your help I will do everything in my power to help the Winthrop Recreation Association remain the vital part of Winthrop that it is at the present.

dent of the Winthrop Recreation Association are stated in the handbook such as: in charge of Special Events Program which includes informal dances, dormitory programs, social games, etc. I believe that these programs can be extended and improved.

Some of the programs which I would like to extend and initiate are: more informal get-togethers among the different dormitories to stimulate better relationships among them, more opportunities for upper classmen to get to know and work with the freshman class, and more functions at the college shack and more use of its available facilities. I would like to have the informal dances planned so that they do not interfere with those of surrounding colleges.

LENORA JORDAN

Having observed the Winthrop Recreation Association for three years and having participated directly and indirectly in its program and activities, I have seen this organization grow and become one of the best recreational programs in the state. I believe that through its many campus-wide activities the Winthrop Recreation Association has helped all Winthrop students to become aware of the athletic facilities on our campus and has been responsible for helping to make Winthrop students more well-rounded.

I believe that the informal dance, the freshman frolics, the WRA-sponsored week-ends at the shack and the various tournaments, not only basketball, tennis, and volleyball, but also the bridge tournaments and game nights within the dorms, have all done a great deal in uniting the members of our campus and in creating an atmosphere of general interest and enthusiasm on Winthrop's campus. If you elect me to the office of Vice-President of the Winthrop Recreation Association, I promise that I shall endeavor to uphold and promote its high standard at Winthrop and throughout the state.

My principal aim is to get the students more into the organization and to help all students feel a part of the organization.

I believe that this can best be done, or at least begun, at the first of the year — partly during the orientation program. Also I think that students can be made to feel more a part of WRA through the sports page of the Johnsonian. It is because of my sincere interest in the WRA that I became interested in having news included in our campus newspaper.

per. I feel that this can prove quite beneficial.

I also promise to stand for a continuation of the informal dances which the WRA has sponsored, and also a continuation of the various activities that I have already mentioned that are the students feel will be beneficial to them and to the campus.

Candidate For Secretary of WRA

BALLY McDEVINE

Having worked in WRA as a floor representative, and on different committees, I have become familiar with the organization and the hard work which must be put into holding an office. I feel that the most important qualification is willingness to do my best if I am elected.

My main interest lies in the WRA and I would like to see it grow to be larger and better. Should I be elected for this office of Secretary of WRA, my goal will be to assist the President and her Council in making the WRA what you as a member will want it to be.

MICKEY BROWN

As Dorn Chairman of Roddey Hall this year, with a position on Executive Board, I have been in contact with the actual "machinery" of WRA on every level. I believe that the experience I have gained in this capacity coupled with past experience as secretary for several high school chess clubs groups qualifies me to hold the office.

If elected secretary of WRA, I pledge my sincerest effort to keep accurate minutes and records of business. I promise to contribute to Executive Board ideas and opinions which I believe will best benefit students, campus, and organization.

I want to serve the Winthrop student body as secretary of WRA.

NANCY SHARROW

I feel that it is a great honor to be nominated for the office of Secretary of the Winthrop Recreation Association, and I, if elected, will seek to bring to this office all my efforts, abilities, and experience. I feel I am qualified for this position because I have served as secretary of the Freshman Class, as a Winthrop Recreation Association floor representative, and as a member of Sigma Gamma Nu Executive Board.

If I am elected Secretary of Winthrop Recreation Association, I will strive to do all in my power to uphold the high standards of the organization, to rigorously promote good, clean fun on campus; and to encourage the participation of all the Winthrop students in the activities of the association.

Candidate For Treasurer of WRA

NANCY COBB

I feel that WRA has in the past and will continue in the future to serve the needs of Winthrop students. As a floor representative this year, I have become familiar with these needs and the way in which WRA has tried to fulfill them. I feel that I can help WRA in this coming year to maintain its purpose and ideals.

As one of the three big organizations on campus, WRA plays an important part of each girl's campus life. The WRA has a tradition to uphold — the tradition of serving each girl in the most beneficial manner and upholding the high standards of Winthrop College.

If I am elected, I will strive to do my part in making the WRA of 1968 the very best ever.

PENNY HUNT

Since I have previously worked with the Winthrop Recreation Association, I have seen how its rapid growth and expansion has reached out to fill the recreational needs of the Winthrop student body. It's hard to realize the importance of such a major organization when its purpose at Winthrop is to provide some form of recreation, whether it be active or passive. In order for this to be done correctly and efficiently, such an organization must have competent executives at its head. Each executive has her specific job or duty to fulfill through the success of the organization.

If elected to the office of treasurer of WRA, I will strive to uphold my position and to perform my duties so as to keep the high standards and progressive ideals of WRA.

EMILY RIDDLE

Through working in the Winthrop Recreation Association this year, I have become more aware of the philosophy and purposes of this organization. If elected, in addition to performing the job of treasurer to the best of my ability, I would like to do my part to help in promoting in every girl on campus a feeling of belonging to WRA.

The WRA has something to offer each girl at Winthrop, from the most athletic to the least active girl whose recreation is centered principally around bridge. I feel that this is a fact often overlooked by many girls and that one use of leisure time through constructive recreation can help provide a well-rounded college life.

Student Government Executive Candidates (Continued From Page Four)

SGA Candidate For V-Pres.

ANN BLACKMON

I realize that the office of the Vice-President entails a great deal of planning for effective functioning of democracy on this campus. I highly favor the changes Senate has made this year to clarify the election procedure, but in the case that such a procedure would not prove successful here, I would seek to find a better solution to the problem.

I have had experience in planning for campus-wide events, and I elected, would consider it a challenge to further serve the student body in the capacity of Vice-President of SGA.

ANN O'CAIN

To be elected vice-president of the Winthrop College Student Government Association would be to me an honor as well as a challenge. It will bring with it a responsibility that I am ready to accept, and will provide an opportunity for me to work and contribute to its greatness.

As head of "Bad Work," I would strive to bring about a closer relationship among the freshmen and upper-classmen during this time. I will work to make the freshmen feel as much a part of Winthrop College as we who have been here do. I want to instill in each student a feeling of pride and loyalty to Winthrop.

Election time presents another important job for the vice-president of the Student Government Association — a time which requires much thought and planning. If I should be elected SGA vice president, I will promote in every way the new election procedure of majority vote. I believe in this procedure and feel that this means of voting is a much better and desirable way of electing the student we want to be the leaders of our "big three," the classes, and other organizations on our campus.

MARY WADE THOMPSON

The principal duties of the Vice-President of SGA are to serve as chairman of the Elections Committee and the Point System Committee and to conduct freshmen orientation. These responsibilities are highly important, and to be effective they must be carried out with much care, consideration, and cooperation.

As a candidate for the office of Vice-President of the Winthrop Student Government Association, I realize that this is more than an honor — it is an opportunity for service. If elected to this position, I hereby promise to serve to the best of my ability and to strive for worthwhile goals, a co-operative spirit, and high ideals.

SGA might assist in encouraging a deeper appreciation for the knowledge which we as Winthrop students are striving to gain.

During the next year and the years to come, it would be well for the student government to continue its efforts to serve all of the students and to help establish a spirit of pride and loyalty for the college.

ARMSTRONG, Partridge

evaluate several times a year in order that the next year's leaders might profit by our mistakes.

4. How do you feel a college can best develop the student's sense of responsibility and honor?

Sandra: I don't feel that an honor system is necessary to develop the student's sense of responsibility and honor. More emphasis should be placed on making the student aware of the Honor Code and the fact that each student is a vital part of student government.

Molly: By giving them certain responsibilities and making them feel that they play a major part in making the college a success. The college should place its students in an atmosphere in which they feel they are trusted, but when the students violate this honor given to them, I feel that there should be severe punishment.

5. What are the disadvantages of being a top campus leader?

Sandra: There are a few disadvantages of being a student leader; however, the rewards far outweigh them. It is, of course, time-energy consuming, but there are things anticipated upon accepting a nomination for an office.

Molly: To be truthful, I really feel that there are no disadvantages. Sometimes I may feel that there are "disadvantages," but after thinking them over they are really an advantage. I see only one small, weak area which I come to friendship, and I'd rather not go into the subject in fear that I may be greatly misunderstood.

Ann: Long hours, and, some times, very little sleep may be called two disadvantages. However, the advantages of leadership make the former almost non-existent. A student leader meets new ideas, new challenges, and new people through state, regional, and national organizations. Most own personal growth, a by-product of her work, proceeds at a much greater rate than if she were not in a leadership position.

best of my ability and to strive for worthwhile goals, a co-operative spirit, and high ideals.

Candidate For Secretary of SGA

JERRY ADDISON

If elected secretary of the Winthrop Student Government Association, I will perform the duties of my position as accurately and efficiently as possible. Since SGA plays a vital role in the lives of each of us here at Winthrop, I will strive for greater understanding of the functions and purposes of SGA among the students and the faculty before they have increased understanding and participation, we can better appreciate the contributions which SGA makes toward our campus life.

HANNAH HICEMAN

Working with and initiating the work as a House Councilor this year has made me realize even more the importance of student participation in this organization. SGA is not just "my organization" but it is the organization of each of us on campus who make and enforce rules. The students themselves are the real means and ends in SGA. Each girl on campus is a vital part, and only through her activities and interest can SGA successfully exist.

I would like to promote this feeling of participation and to execute with all possible competence the duties of secretary if your votes, the votes of the Winthrop Student Government Association, elect me as secretary of its organization.

GENEVA KNOX

Our Winthrop Student Government Association has grown in its effectiveness during the past school year. The co-operation of the students has shown that there has been a definite interest in the activities and that the events were regulated to a desirable number. The program next year should thus build the quantity of student activities to its present level and concentrate on improving the quality or on exchanging certain projects for new ones.

Faculty panel discussions have aided in the bettering of student-faculty understanding and should be continued.

SGA might assist in encouraging a deeper appreciation for the knowledge which we as Winthrop students are striving to gain.

During the next year and the years to come, it would be well for the student government to continue its efforts to serve all of the students and to help establish a spirit of pride and loyalty for the college.

lish a spirit of pride and loyalty for the college.

Candidate For Treasurer of SGA

DOLLY CROUCH

In my opinion the Treasurer of the Winthrop Student Government Association should possess the qualifications of being efficient, dependable, and accurate in bookkeeping. I feel that I possess these qualifications. Also, I have had some experience in high school in handling the responsibilities of a treasurer. After serving as President of the Freshman class and in Senate, I feel that I understand the organization and the procedures of the Student Government Association.

I feel that the nomination for this Student Government office has been an honor. If I am elected, I promise to do my utmost to fulfill the obligations as the Treasurer of the Student Government Association. I will strive to uphold the ideals of the Student Government Association at Winthrop College and to conduct myself in a manner that will reflect the ideals of the Association.

DORA HAYES

As one of the three candidates for treasurer of SGA, I, Dora Hayes, realize that if elected I will have definite duties to fulfill. It is important to any organization that neat, concise, records and reports be kept of all receipts and expenditures. I will do this to the best of my ability, but I want to go beyond required duties in that my desire is to grow with SGA in all phases of its progress.

It seems that we are losing the predominant purpose of attending conventions when only a few students from Winthrop College receive individual aid and don't publicize the events and ideas in order that others might be benefited. I would like for more convention reports to be given in the future.

I also feel that it is important for Winthrop students to know and to better understand the honor code we now have. Through this perhaps we can create better respect and an even close association between our three big campus organizations and the different phases of their respective programs.

Through these proposals I feel that Winthrop will not only have classes united but also an entire college campus living and working as one.

ROSE JONES

As a candidate for treasurer of SGA, I, Rose Jones, will try to fulfill the following duties to the best of my ability:

1. To help instill in the students of Winthrop College that SGA is our organization. One way that I feel this can be made better known to the majority of students, the freshmen in particular, is through closer contact between the House Councils and the Executive Board.

2. I also think that it is a necessity to stress that SGA does not consist simply of rules and regulations. Perhaps this can be made better known by publicizing more completely the activities and accomplishments of SGA.

3. If I am elected treasurer of SGA, I will keep records of receipts and expenditures as exact and up-to-date as possible.

4. Knowing that progress is an end product, and that I am just a small portion of the group work which means SGA, I propose to do more than simply my "elected duty" for the Student Government Association — an organization with an evergrowing, always improving future.

Cornell Hunts Strong SGA

Seeking to make student government "as effective as possible," Cornell University students are considering "a strong central student government, with the power of review over groups such as Interfraternity Council, Cornell Panhellenic and Women's Student Government Association," reports CORNELL DAILY SUN.

The central group would have authority to delegate jurisdiction to student groups and review their decisions. For example, under the plan, a change in rushing rules would have to be approved by IPC and the central organization.

Student leaders questioned by the newspaper seemed generally favorable to the plan, feeling it would add strength to student government and prestige to the central group.

A question as to whether the plan might limit power of groups such as IPC was answered by Cornell's student council president this way: "In reality, only in the case of a dispute will the student government organization limit the power of a constituent group."
